The Ten Commandments Commission

Ron Wexler

President / CEO, Ten Commandments Commission

Ron Wexler is President / CEO of the Ten Commandments Commission, an organization devoted to defending and maintaining the Judeo-Christian moral tradition in society. In response to recent court rulings and lawsuits against the Ten Commandments, Ron formed the Ten Commandments Commission to coordinate a major global movement on behalf of God's eternal moral law. Ron is also the principal owner of Heritage Study Programs, Inc., an educational organization.

Ron was born and educated in Israel and served in the Israel Defense Force during the Six-Day War of 1967 and the Yom Kippur War of 1973. His Yeshiva studies (Rabbinical School) and later on his research work on early Christianity provided him with a unique perspective on Jewish and Christian issues. He is internationally known for his extensive projects that promote unity and reconciliation among Jews and Gentiles alike.

Ron produces special thematic events and productions associated with the Judeo-Christian calendar. These events include biblical reenactments that are based on biblical stories and accords performed on location in Israel. In 1994, Ron produced and reinstated the Feast of Pentecost celebration which is now an official annual event supported by the Municipality of Jerusalem and the Government of Israel Tourist Office.

His vision of unity, harmony, and reconciliation among all races and genders has received the blessings of the international religious community. Through Ron's efforts, thousands have been touched with a new appreciation, respect, and tolerance for the differences in the way people observe their faiths.

Ron has utilized his extensive contacts within the religious community to assemble together a cross-cultural, interdenominational strategic coalition of influential Christian leaders known as the Millennium Council. He is also heavily involved with the political situation in the Middle East. In his capacity as the President of the Millennium Council, Ron is working with leaders and politicians in Israel and the U.S. on finding practical solutions to the current and ongoing problems of the region. His work in the Middle East deals with the region's economy, natural resources, and the Israeli-Palestinian conflict.

Ron is also the Founder and President of the future Garden of Beatitudes on the shores of the Sea of Galilee (scheduled opening spring 2007). The Garden is a cross-cultural, spiritual center and a learning facility. The center will include a 22-acre devotional garden, a 1000-seat theater, classrooms and dormitories, a state of the art conference center, and a 250-room hotel.

come together and celebrate
God's eternal moral law

TEN COMMANDMENTS DAY

On Sunday, February 5, 2006, Christians and Jews from around this nation and the world will join to celebrate the first ever Ten Commandments Day, a day set aside to honor the bedrock principles this nation and countless societies have been founded on.

Imagine people of faith all over America - and in every area of society - identifying themselves with the standard of righteousness upon which this nation was founded. That's the inspiration behind the striking design that has become the Ten Commandments Pin.

The Ten Commandments Commission

Are you concerned about the attempt to remove God's moral law from our society? You can do something about it.

In response to recent court rulings against the public display of the Ten Commandments and the continual assault of a secular humanist agenda against traditional values, the Ten Commandments Commission has been created to restore and maintain the moral principles of the Judeo-Christian tradition in our nation and society.

The objectives of the Ten Commandments Commission are as follows:

- To restore the supremacy of the tenants, precepts, and principles contained in the Ten Commandments.
- To provide a global symbol that expresses our submission and commitment to the values found in the Ten Commandments.
- To create a mechanism by which the Word of God can be restored in every aspect of society peacefully and without violation of the legal system.
- To give opportunity for identification with millions who adhere to the supreme, universal law of God.

At such a time when God is being pushed out of our schools, the sanctity of life is ignored, and the Ten Commandments are thrown out of courtrooms, it is our moral duty and obligation to unite and demonstrate our stand for divine authority. We cannot let those who wish to remove all vestiges of Judeo-Christian morality from our society succeed. History has shown that no civilized society or government can exist successfully without recognition, acceptance, adherence, and submission to an absolute authority.

Because of the urgency of this matter, the Ten Commandments Commission is calling on all supporters of traditional values to unite and let their voices be heard. This can be done primarily through the wearing of the Ten Commandments Pin that we have made available and by celebrating the first annual Ten Commandments Sunday that will be held on Sunday February 5, 2006. On this date, we are calling on all churches, synagogues, ministry leaders, Christians, and all who care about traditional values to celebrate Ten Commandments Sunday by hosting local community events in support of the Ten Commandments.

The Ten Commandments Commission has assembled a massive coalition of cross cultural interdenominational community leaders, pastors, rabbis, educators, and heads of denominations who are committed to standing up for traditional values. By making our voices heard in support of the Ten Commandments, we believe we will make a major societal impact by restoring God's eternal moral code to the heart of our nation.

Will you join us as we call our nation back to the divine standard upon which it was founded?

The Ten Commandments Commission was founded by President/CEO, Ron Wexler.
